Managing cookies directly from the site

In order to optimise your experience when managing cookies, we have decided to organise the cookies used by this site into four categories according to their purpose: essential, comfort, performance, advertising.

The user has the possibility, at any time, to enable and disable directly from the site each specific category of cookies (with the exception of essential, strictly necessary cookies). In the case of third party cookies, disabling means that the cookie is not used by this site (and not deleted).

- Essential: These cookies are indispensable for the smooth operation of the site and its functions. Examples: authentication cookies.
- Comfort: These cookies make it possible to improve the comfort and usability of Internet sites and provide various functions. For example, in comfort cookies you can store search results, language settings, font size.
- Performance: These cookies collect information about how websites are used. Performance cookies help us, for example, to determine which areas of our website are the most popular. This enables us to adapt the content of Internet pages to your wishes and at the same time to improve the Internet services offered.
- Advertising: These cookies are used to personalise the delivery of information and advertising communications according to the user's interests, e.g. based on the pages visited.
